Starting FRIDAY Night Feb 7th, Winter Parking Ban In Effect
Crews working around the clock through storm cleanup
Sign up for VT-Alert for snow ban info & other urgent alerts

Burlington, VT – A winter PARKING BAN will go into effect Friday February 7th at 10pm. There is not a parking ban tonight, Thursday February 6th. Crews are currently out in full force and will continue to clear sidewalks and streets overnight. With colder, snowier conditions forecast for tomorrow, the parking ban will allow a more comprehensive cleanup.

While there is not a ban tonight (2/6), we encourage residents to park off-street if space is available to them. This will give our plows the safest and best ability to push snow off the roads. Public Works appreciates your help as crews continue clearing roads and sidewalks through the remainder of this storm.

We encourage residents to sign up for VT-Alert to be notified of snow bans and other urgent municipal alerts. More info on signing up is available at <https://www.burlingtonvt.gov/btv-alerts>. You can also check 802-658-SNOW for updates or keep your eye on the lights. Bans are always called by 3PM. Please travel safely and stay warm!

Details on Timing & Enforcement

The ban will be in effect from 10PM (Friday February 7th) - 7AM (Saturday February 8th) throughout Burlington, except downtown. In the downtown zone the ban is in effect midnight -

6AM Saturday (see the end of this release for streets within the downtown zone enforcement area).

Any vehicles remaining on the street during the parking ban may be issued a $125.00 parking ticket by Burlington Police Parking Enforcement and towed to another location.
