GOT ANY BRIGHT IDEAS?

Whether you need hand holding or rocket launching, there are many exceptional and free resources in Burlington available to assist you every step of the way. Here are a few:

How to Start a Business in Burlington

FACT: Every business has different needs when starting up.

Construct a customized checklist.

These organizations on the right can sit with you and develop a comprehensive to-do list specific to your business goals -- most are free of charge and all are confidential.

The Community & Economic Development Office (CEDO), located in City Hall, provides free technical assistance and referrals, administers a revolving loan program, provides location and permitting assistance and, when needed, can act as a liaison between City departments and your venture.

Start Up Basics

The following is only a general overview of the steps you need to take in starting a business. Detailed information on each of these steps is provided in the following pages of this guide.

Develop a Business Plan. Read through the next section of this guide on preparing a business plan. Once your plan is drafted, have it reviewed for free at one of the organizations listed on the opposite page.

Compile a checklist of steps to take. Call CEDO, (802) 865.7187, to review. While you are there, ask for a copy of their Commercial Space Database.

Look into local permits, zoning, and licenses. Before signing a lease, contact Planning & Zoning, (802) 865.7188, and Public Works, (802) 863.9094, to discuss your plans. P & Z and PW will advise you of necessary zoning and building permits and the process for each. www.dpw.ci.burlington.vt.us/build/ & www.ci.burlington.vt.us/planning.

Choose your legal structure. Sole proprietorship? Partnership? S-Corp? C-Corp? Limited Liability Corporation? The new L3C (Vermont was the first state to authorize this new designation)? Consult with an attorney and accountant to review the legal and financial benefits of each. You can research the definitions and attributes of these legal structures at the Secretary of State's website: www.sec.state.vt.us.

Register your name. Once you've decided on your business's legal structure, or if you are doing business under a name other than your own, you need to register your name. Either call (802) 828.2386 or visit www.sec.state.vt.us to get the Tradename Registration form. Also, certain professions require permits and licensing (see page 23) from this office. Again, either call the Secretary's office or check their website.

Get an Employers Tax Identification Number (EIN). Partnerships and corporations, with or without employees, must obtain an employer identification number. Complete and return IRS form SS-4. Simpler and quicker yet, apply online at www.irs.gov.

Register for state tax numbers. Complete form S-1 (available at www.state.vt.us/tax or www.cedoburlington.org) and mail to VT Department of Taxes. For questions on sales tax, withholding, corporate and other taxes call them: (802) 828.2505.

Call insurance agents. You'll need various types of insurance. Call three agents, discuss your business needs, get quotes, and compare price and service.

Advice

Your business may be subject to various permits, licenses, and review. Check out the section on "Special Considerations" (pages 20-23).

For comprehensive assistance with larger projects of construction and improvements for new or existing commercial facilities, call CEDO at (802) 865.7144 or GBIC at (802) 862.5726.

A Business Plan

Bluebird Tavern co-owner Sue Bette

A failure to plan is a plan to fail. Regardless of your needs for a loan, a business plan, if reviewed by professionals, will reveal what you know and don't know about your business venture. How important is that? Oversights and mistakes are much cheaper on paper than in real life. A business plan helps owners perform better and avoid pitfalls. You may be the expert at the nature of your business, but the nature of business varies like our climate.

Need help or a business plan outline?

Free one-on-one assistance and a confidential review of your plan is available through the organizations listed on page 4. Don't forgo consultation. Before you bring your plan to a bank or other lender, get some qualified opinions.

Inspiration

Sue Bette and her partners transformed the dilapidated former Tortilla Flats building into a James Beard Award Best New Restaurant semi-finalist.

Advice

CEDO can review your business plan before you go to a lender. MBDP can help you put your plan together, or Sample plans and business plan templates are available from a variety of sources.

Cut to the chase: This is about confidence.

If someone is going to loan you money, they need a feeling of confidence (see section on Financing, page 18-19); confidence that the plan is accurate, plausible, and executable. If your prospective financiers perceive too great a risk, you can be sure they won't be your prospective financiers for very long. If you need capital, the importance of preparing a business plan cannot be overstated.

The opposite page has a business plan overview. As you draft your plan, your strengths and weaknesses will become clearer. Weaknesses in your business greatly increase the chances of failure. And after sufficient review these weaknesses will be apparent. Treat the business plan as a living document; one which you nurture, learn from, and that eventually brings life to your business.

There are as many ways to write a business plan as there are businesses. On the opposite page is an overview of a typical business plan you can use as a guide. Seek samples of other plans as guidance.

A Plan Overview

New versions of Microsoft Office have decent templates for business plans (Word) and the related financial planning documents (Excel).

Introduction

Provide a detailed description of the business and its goals; discuss the ownership of the business and the legal structure; list the skills and experience you bring to the business; discuss the advantages you and your business have over your competitors.

Marketing

Discuss the products/services offered; identify the customer demand for your product/service; identify your market, its size and locations; explain how your product/service will be advertised and marketed; explain the pricing strategy.

Financial Management

Explain your source and the amount of initial equity capital; develop a monthly operating budget and a monthly cash flow for the first three years; provide projected income statements and balance sheets for a three-year period; discuss your break-even point; explain your personal balance sheet and method of compensation; discuss who will maintain your accounting records and how they will be kept; provide “what if” statements that address alternative approaches to any problem that may develop.

Operations

Explain how the business will be managed on a day-to-day basis; discuss hiring and personnel procedures; discuss insurance, lease or rent agreements, and issues pertinent to your business; account for the equipment necessary to produce your products or services; account for production and delivery of products and services.

Concluding Statement

Summarize your business goals and objectives, and express your commitment to the success of your business.

Registration, Taxes & Licenses

Easy Things To Do During The Business Planning Stage

1. Register your business name with the Vermont Secretary of State.

If you plan to operate under a different name than your own, you must register the tradename with the Secretary of State. A small fee is charged, and the registration is valid for five years. Forms are available online. As part of your business planning process, you need to choose a legal structure: sole proprietorship, partnership, S-Corp, C-Corp, Worker Cooperative Corp, non-profit, limited profit, Limited Liability Company, or the new L3C. Once you decide, if you are anything other than a sole proprietorship, you must file forms with the Secretary of State. This office also registers trademarks, issues certificates of incorporation for domestic corporations, administers Limited Liability Companies, administers Limited Partnership Registration, and administers Amusement Park Ride Regulation.

(802) 828.2386 | www.sec.state.vt.us

2. Register with the Vermont Department of Taxes. They will help determine which types of taxes are required. The Department of Taxes administers personal income tax, business taxes, meals and rooms tax, sales and use tax, and withholding tax, and assigns a Business Tax Account number. You must have an account number before you open for business. Obtain one by submitting a completed form S-1. See the definitions of various State taxes on opposite page. (802) 828.2551 | www.state.vt.us/tax

3. Register with the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS has application forms online for federal employer ID numbers (EIN) and federal taxes. If you plan to have employees, you will need to get an EIN from the IRS by submitting form SS-4. You will be required to make regular payments to the IRS for social security and employee withholding tax. Prepare by reading page 15 in this guide. As a sole proprietor, if you expect to owe at least $1,000 in personal income tax to the IRS for the upcoming tax year, you must make estimated quarterly payments using form 1040ES. Again, read page 15 in this guide. The IRS conducts local workshops and courses geared to small businesses, usually free of charge. 4. Contact an insurance agent. Among other insurance needs, Workers' Compensation insurance is required even for businesses with one employee. The Vermont Department of Labor (VT DOL) administers workers' compensation, minimum wage, and child labor laws. For more information, contact: Department of Labor: Workers' Compensation (802) 828.2286; Wage and Hour www.labor.vermont.gov/Default.aspx?tabid=114.

5. Read pages 20-23 in this guide. Your business may require special permitting, licensing, and taxes. Among other things, you might need to call the Health Department and the Agency of Natural Resources. The Health Department provides licenses and permits for a wide range of specific businesses (e.g. food and lodging, bakeries, asbestos abatement workers, lead contractors, emergency medical service providers, hospitals, food processors). Again, read pages 20-23 to see if your business requires special considerations.

6. Which City of Burlington business taxes apply?

Commercial Real Estate Tax: A non-residential property tax based on a multiplier of 1.2 of the City's appraised value. For billing questions call the City Clerk's Office at (802) 865.7000. For appraised valuation questions call the City Assessor's Office at (802) 865.7114 or visit the Assessor's website for property data at www.ci.burlington.vt.us/assessor.

Business Personal Property Tax: Also known as the Machinery and Equipment tax. It is required for all businesses to register with the City Assessor's Office. Please contact the Assessor's Office by calling (802) 865.7114. You can learn more about this tax and obtain the registration form by going to the City Assessor's website, www.ci.burlington.vt.us/assessor.

Downtown Improvement District Tax: This tax enables free parking for shoppers and visitors during peak shopping times throughout the year. This tax is based on the appraised value and only applies to the commercial properties within the Downtown district. This tax is on the Real Estate tax bill. For billing questions call the City Clerk's Office at (802) 865.7000.

Meals and Rooms Tax: The City requires restaurants, movie theaters, amusements, caterers, motels, hotels, and guest homes to pay a percentage of gross monthly receipts to the City Clerk's Office on a monthly basis. Call (802) 865.7011/7015 for the current tax rates.

State Tax Definitions:

Sales & Use

A tax on sale and rental of goods, acquired both in and out of state. A certificate is required to collect the tax.

Meals & Rooms

A tax of gross receipts per quarter for restaurants, bars, lodgings, etc.

Corporate Income

A percentage of the corporation's net income. Minimum of $250 per year.

Personal Income

Approximately 24% of your federal income tax.

Fuel Gross Receipts

A tax on the retail sale of fuel (e.g. propane, natural gas, coal, heating oil), if you sell over $10,000 per year.

Withholding

A tax you withhold and remit to the State on behalf of your employees.

Other State Taxes

There are special taxes on beverages, cigarettes, tobacco, solid waste, and others.

Planning & Zoning (P&Z) is the City Department which regulates land use, development, and zoning for all commercial and residential property within Burlington City Limits. It administers several types of permits and helps interpret zoning laws for people planning to locate or expand a business in Burlington.

Planning & Zoning

Advice

Call P&Z. Have a conversation about your project.

“When do I need to contact P&Z?” Now! A zoning permit may be required when you make interior or exterior modifications to a building, change the use of a building, or simply put up a sign. If you are just starting a business (including home-based), moving into a new commercial space, or making any significant changes in the type of business you are running, you should check with P&Z before you move forward. The P&Z staff want to help you avoid potential problems and wasted time. All the information and forms needed can be found at www.ci.burlington.vt.us/planning.

“I found a space for my business, but I’m not sure whether the zoning is appropriate.” You can find out by calling P&Z with the location’s address. You may need a permit if you are converting the use of a space (e.g. office to retail, retail to manufacturing, residential to office). It may not be important if you are changing the products or services (e.g. clothing to home products), but it is important if the type of activity is changing. Call (802) 865.7188 to find out.

“What if I am considering some small changes to the exterior of the building?” Bring a photograph of the building and a copy of your building plans (if available) to P&Z to determine if it is necessary to go through the design review process. Some buildings may be protected as historic or may require approval of design changes. Design changes include signs on the outside of the building.

“What if my proposal requires construction or other work inside or outside the building?” In most cases, you will need a Building Permit from Public Works (802) 863.9094 in addition to the P&Z permit.

“How long will it take to get a permit?” In some cases, P&Z will determine you do not need a permit and will give you a “Determination of Non-applicability.” If you do need a permit, you may be able to get an “Administrative Approval,” which generally takes 3-4 weeks. For a larger project you may have to go in front of the Design Advisory Board and/or the Development Review Board, which could take a few months. Whether it’s three hours, three days, or three months, the sooner you approach P&Z, the better you can plan to ensure you have the necessary permits before you begin operating.

“How much does a permit cost?” Fees are based on the type of the project. Visit the website for current fees, including impact fees, specific to your project. www.ci.burlington.vt.us/planning

“I’m not sure if my space is handicapped accessible.” The Americans with Disabilities Act requires certain building adaptations. Check with the Building Inspector in Public Works as early as possible to make sure your space complies. In some situations, for example where the costs of installing adaptive equipment is determined exorbitant, variances are issued by Public Works. A zoning permit will still be needed.

“What if I don’t get approval for what I want to do?” You are able to appeal the decision to the Vermont Environmental Court or possibly approach the Planning Commission about changing the zoning laws. Ask P&Z for details.

Design Review Guides P&Z’s Review Guides are easy to understand how-to guides on a variety of zoning design review topics. Reviewing applicable guides as you plan is a great idea. You can pick them up at their offices at City Hall or go to www.ci.burlington.vt.us/planning. There are twenty guides available. Here is a partial list:

Spring is a busy time for construction. Plan ahead. Sheryl & Rod of JR's Corner Store

Let the helpful staff at the Department of Public Works shed some light on your project before you get started on plans for interior modifications, electrical or plumbing work.

The Public Works Department has a broad range of responsibilities including certain permitting, inspection and public utility services. New buildings, additions, alterations, repairs, demolitions, changes in plumbing, mechanical and electrical systems will require a permit followed by inspection of the construction.

Public Works

<http://www.dpw.ci.burlington.vt.us/>

“When do I need to contact Public Works?” Now, or certainly before the day you wish to start your project. They can tell you if you need a building, plumbing or electrical permit. They will schedule inspections for building code, health & safety, fire, etc.

“Do I need to fill out an application for a permit?” Yes. Complete Form ISD-1 Application for Permit (available on website, see above). It is strongly recommended that you or your contractors contact this office during the project’s planning stages or at the same time that your project is being reviewed under the zoning process. This will help keep your project on schedule and let you start on the day you planned.

“How long does it take to get a permit?” There is a short waiting period. Depending on the size of the project, it could take from less than an hour to an entire week. Most permits are issued without delay. If you have planned far enough ahead, contacted the Inspection Services Division, provided plans, made phone contact, etc. prior to your project start date, it will not take long for you to obtain the necessary permits and get your project underway.

“Do I need a separate permit for electrical, plumbing, building, etc?” Yes. Each trade required to complete a project will be permitted separately identifying the work being performed and by whom it is being done. Each trade person will secure his or her own permit(s), and each permit fee will be based on the cost of construction for that trade’s portion of the work.

“How much does a permit cost?” All permits have a minimum permit fee when the project costs for labor and material fall below a certain level. For projects over the minimum, the permit fee is calculated for every $1,000.00 of the construction cost.

“Do I need to close out permits issued for my projects?” Yes. Obtaining a Certificate of Occupancy is required as part of the permit process. Double-check with both the P&Z and the Inspection Services Division to be sure that all your projects were closed out after final inspection.

“Can Public Works recommend a contractor to do the work?” No. The service that they provide through the permit process ensures that all contractors working in Burlington have the proper credentials and observe all state and local life safety codes in construction work.

“Can I do my own plumbing or electrical work for my business?” No. Generally, plumbing and electrical licenses are required to perform work in Burlington. All work done must comply with all state and local building codes and ordinances.

“Do I need to provide plans? If so, what is required to be shown on the plans, and can I draw them myself?” Yes. Public Works needs to review your plans. For smaller projects, the plans should show elevation and floor plans identifying all areas and materials. In addition, for larger projects, you should add a foundation plan, further floor plans, sections, etc. You may draw these plans yourself or have a professional do them for you. However, a professional must affix a valid registration stamp and number for the inspector to accept them.

“How soon can I get an inspection for my project?” Inspections are required for all permits. The best time to schedule an inspection is when you pick up your permit. DPW’s inspection schedule is driven by the construction demand and is on a first-come, first-serve basis. They request a minimum of three days lead-time to be able to be at the property for an inspection. From early spring to late fall, and around the holidays, the lead-time is longer.

“When can I see an inspector?” The inspectors have set aside certain office hours, 8 am to 10 am, specifically to return phone calls, schedule appointments, and meet with walk-in customers. These hours were set up to issue quick permits and answer any questions you may have to keep your project moving. Voice mail can also be an important tool. For building permits call (802) 865.7559; for electrical permits call (802) 865.7561; for mechanical, heating, ventilation, sprinkler, and plumbing call (802) 865.7560.

Advice

Call Public Works. Have a conversation about your project.

Creating Jobs

Because hiring employees is a complex, expensive process, the decision must fit in with your goals as outlined in your business plan. The hiring process should be approached thoughtfully. Before you hire, you should define the job, the experience or education level required and what salary and benefits you are willing to pay. Seriously consider formulating a personnel policy that addresses the following: the number of hours to be worked each week and the number of days per week; holiday work and the time and method for overtime pay; fringe benefits; vacation and sick leave; time off for personal needs; training; retirement; a grievance procedure; performance review and promotion; and termination.

Though intuition plays a big part in hiring decisions, you should follow a process that determines the applicant's capabilities for the position. In addition to reviewing the candidate's resume and application, ask for work samples from a previous job if available. Test the applicant if appropriate and definitely check his or her work references. The number one trait employers cite as a reason for hiring? Attitude.

Notes

Employees & Related Taxes

Federal

Except where noted, all forms available at www.irs.gov

File form SS-4 and obtain an Employer Identification Number (EIN).

Each employee must fill out a W-4, the employee withholding form and an I-9 Employment Eligibility Verification form.

For each pay period (weekly, bi-monthly, monthly, etc.) you need to calculate and deduct employees' income tax, social security, and medicare amounts. Each quarter you'll file a form 941 to report your payments. You can file form 941 and make your payments on the IRS website.

Shortly after the end of the calendar year, you'll file Wage and Tax Statements (W-2) for each employee and a Transmittal of Wage and Tax Statements (W-3 form). You'll also file form 945, the Annual Return of Withheld Federal Income Tax.

Some businesses, such as those with employees who receive tips, are required to file additional information. Check with your tax accountant or visit www.irs.gov.

If you are self-employed (i.e. no employees) you must pay the self-employment tax. Use schedule SE with your annual 1040 tax return. See www.irs.gov for information.

State

Except where noted, all forms available at www.state.vt.us/tax or call (802) 828.2551.

When you file an S-1, Vermont Application for Business Tax Account, you need to request a withholding tax account if you plan on employing. The State will send you an Employer Withholding return booklet for reporting along with a schedule and formula for calculating the deductions.

Each employee must fill out form W-4VT.

As an employer, you must file wage reports on a quarterly basis even if no wages were paid in a quarter. An Employer's Quarterly Wage & Contribution Report (Form C-101) is mailed to each taxable and reimbursable employer during the last week of each calendar quarter.

Workers' Compensation insurance must be purchased. Contact an insurance agent. For information on Workers' Compensation visit www.labor.vermont.gov or call (802) 828.2288.

Check with VOSHA (Occupational Safety & Health) for additional regulations that may apply to your company at www.labor.vermont.gov or call (802) 828.2288.

Advice

Have a conversation with a tax accountant. Consider hiring a professional for your tax needs. You might save a bundle in aspirin costs. An alternative to managing your company's payroll and tax filings would be to hire a payroll service to handle all your employee-related tax documents.

While developing your business plan you should be contacting real estate brokers and prospecting for your business location. To start, the Community and Economic Development Office (802) 865.7187 maintains a list of available commercial space in Burlington. They'll send you a list of available spaces. When you find a place, call Planning & Zoning (802) 865.7188, to see if your business is permitted there.

Selecting A Location

Take a Tour of the Queen City

Here is an overview of the major commercial districts and corridors: Downtown/Waterfront - A dense commercial district full of restaurants, local and national retailers, professional offices, and banks. At its heart is the newly renovated Church Street Marketplace, an outdoor pedestrian shopping district and an underground Town Center. Pine Street/South End - An eclectic mix of retailers, offices, manufacturers, cafes, thrift shops, artists' studios, galleries, antiques, and automotive and industrial supply companies. Old North End/North Street - A mix of retailers, restaurants, business services, grocers, and thrift shops. Riverside Avenue - A mix of automotive services, restaurants, and manufacturers. This busy road links Burlington to Winooski. North Avenue/New North End - Most of the commercial activity is focused around the Ethan Allen Shopping Center, home to a new supermarket, hardware store, and many other retailers and services.

Location is destiny

Choose a location that will help generate, not deter, customers. Is there too much competition in the area? Look for a Merchant's Association - group advertising, insurance, and security may be available. Talk to the current or previous tenants regarding the landlord's property maintenance and any limitations on the property. Carefully review or consider having an attorney review the lease before signing. How much space is needed? What are the costs per sq. ft.? Can your employees easily arrive? Is there public transportation? How much parking do you have vs. need? How does your location affect your advertising costs? Is your space ADA accessible?

Advice

Call up the various business associations listed in the directory. Sometimes they hear of openings before they hit the street. Call CEDO (802) 865.7187. They maintain a list of available commercial space.

Regardless of where you seek funding – from a bank, a local development corporation, or a relative – a prospective lender will review your creditworthiness. A complete and thoroughly documented loan request (including a business plan, see pages 6-7) will help the lender understand you and your business. The basic components of credit analysis, the “Five C’s,” are described below to help you understand what the lender will look for.

Financing

Navigating the High C’s of Credit

Capacity to repay is the most critical of the five factors. The prospective lender will want to know exactly how you intend to repay the loan. The lender will consider the cash flow from the business, the timing of the repayment, and the probability of successful repayment of the loan. Payment history on existing credit relationships – personal or commercial – is considered an indicator of future payment performance. Prospective lenders also will want to know about your contingent reserve sources of repayment.

Capital is the money you personally have invested in the business and is an indication of how much you have at risk should the business fail. Prospective lenders and investors will expect you to have contributed from your own assets and to have undertaken personal financial risk to establish the business before asking them to commit any funding.

Collateral or guarantees are additional forms of security you can provide the lender. Giving a lender collateral means that you pledge an asset you own, such as your home, to the lender with the agreement that it will be the repayment source in case you can’t repay the loan. A guarantee, on the other hand, is just that – someone else signs a guarantee document promising to repay the loan if you can’t. Some lenders may require such a guarantee in addition to collateral as security for a loan.

Advice

Before you bring your financing request to a lender, obtain your credit report. The State of Vermont requires credit reporting agencies to give one free report per year to anyone requesting it. Lenders will be looking at this info so you should be aware of its content before they scrutinize it. Call Credit Bureau Service of Vermont to find out how to get yours: (800) 888.4213

Conditions focus on the intended purpose of the loan. Will the money be used for working capital, additional equipment or inventory? The lender also will consider the local economic climate and conditions both within your industry and in other industries that could affect your business.

Character is the general impression you make on the potential lender or investor. The lender will form a subjective opinion as to whether or not you are sufficiently trustworthy to repay the loan or generate a return on funds invested in your company. Your educational background and experience in business and in your industry will be reviewed. The quality of your references and the background and experience levels of your employees also will be taken into consideration.

For many start-ups, cooperation among lenders is the key. Many new businesses need to piece together a patchwork to satisfy their financing. Banks, alternative lenders, government programs, family and friends often become partners to assist in the development of business. If you encounter resistance in obtaining financing, get creative.

What if you don't qualify for traditional financing through a bank? There are several "alternative lenders" listed in the financing directory section of this guide (page 30). These lenders often have more flexibility than banks. Once your business is established and proven, a banking institution will be more likely to favorably consider future requests. In general, banks have stricter guidelines on risk than alternative lenders. However, banks are better suited to grow along with your business, and their many valuable services and products could ultimately present your venture with more choices and greater flexibility.

Financing your start-up or expansion should be considered as you begin your planning. It makes no sense to think of planning and financing separately. Financing can take an unexpected amount of time, so identifying key issues both dependent and independent of your plan is wise. Meet with one of the organizations listed on page 4 and have a conversation.

Advice

Put yourself in the lender's shoes: If someone was looking to borrow money from you, what would you want to know before you lent your money?

Notes

Special Considerations

Restaurants, Bars, Delis, Lodgings, Catering Services, Amusements

Advice

Plan on up to six weeks for your Health Permit and eight weeks for your Liquor License.

Read on.

Make sure you read page 5, “Start-up Basics,” for information all start-ups need to consider. You’ll find items such as registering your business with the state, filing for a tax identification number, and when and why to contact Planning & Zoning and Public Works.

Contact the Health Department (802) 863.7200. You’ll need a Health Permit. Obtain this permit application online at www.healthvermont.gov or by calling the local office at (802) 863.7221. Once the application is reviewed, they will schedule a site visit to inspect your operation. Plan for at least ten days.

However, before the Health Department can issue the permit, you (excluding caterers) need to obtain a permit from the Agency of Natural Resources that certifies that you have adequate water/wastewater services for the capacity of your establishment. Call a local permit specialist at (802) 879.5676, have a discussion, and obtain an application. Good advice would be to visit www.anr.state.vt.us/decl/permit_hb/smallbus.htm to read about the process. It can take up to three weeks to obtain this permit, so plan ahead.

Contact the Clerk/Treasurer’s Office (802) 865.7000. You’ll need information and forms for the Gross Receipts taxes and for acquiring a liquor license. The Clerk’s Office also administers tobacco licenses, entertainment permits, outside consumption permits, and catering permits.

Meals Tax

Restaurants, bars, hotels, and caterers, among others, are required to pay the State’s meals tax, currently at 9%.

When filing a State tax ID application, there will be a place on that form to establish that account. Call the VT Dept. of Taxes for info: (802) 828.2551

What are Gross Receipts Taxes? The City requires businesses that sell meals, alcohol, charge admissions for amusements, or are considered a hotel, motel, B&B, etc., to register with the City. They must file monthly returns and pay 2% taxes on all admissions, alcohol, amusements and meals. Contact the City Clerk at City Hall for forms (802) 865.7000.

Obtaining a Liquor License A 12-Step Program?

The City Clerk, (802) 865.7000, at City Hall provides information and forms for obtaining a liquor license. Your application for a liquor license will receive reviews by the Police Department, the City Attorney, Clerk/Treasurer's Office, Planning & Zoning, License/Local Control Sub-Committee, the Local Control Committee, and the State Liquor Commission. Step one is to fill out the appropriate Liquor License application (there are three types and fees apply) and submit it to the Clerk/Treasurer's Office. The Clerk will schedule the applicant to appear before the License/Local Control Sub-Committee, which will then make its recommendation to the Local Control Committee.

If approved, the Clerk's Office sends the application to the state for final approval. The Clerk's Office will notify the applicant.

Application forms are available online at www.state.vt.us/dlc/licensing/applications.html.

a special event). The License/Local Control Sub-Committee will review and make its recommendation to the Local Control Commission. The Entertainment Permit year begins May 1st.

Obtaining a Catering Permit. First apply for a Permit/Number through the Vermont Department of Health, (802) 863.7200, at 108 Cherry Street, 3rd Floor. After you receive your number, you must obtain a Request for Catering form from the Clerk Treasurer's Office. After approval, the Clerk's Office will mail the application for final review to the Vermont Liquor Control Board in Montpelier.

You should also contact the Vermont Department of Health (802) 863.7200 and obtain its Guide to Starting a New Food or Lodging Business in Vermont. Make sure you read page 5 for the "everyday" considerations of starting a business.

Old Vermont

1 3/4 oz. gin (London dry style)
1/4 oz. grade B maple syrup
1/2 oz. fresh lemon juice
1/4 oz. fresh orange juice
3 dashes Urban Moonshine™ Maple Bitters

Shake all ingredients vigorously and strain into chilled glass. Top with 2 dashes Maple bitters

Recipe provided by Urban Moonshine™, Burlington, VT

Advice

The process of obtaining a liquor license requires some planning and patience as it can take up to 2 months to accomplish.

Your application for a liquor license will receive many wonderful reviews including checks by the Police Department, the City Attorney, Clerk/Treasurer's Office, Planning & Zoning, License/Local Control Sub-Committee, the Local Control Committee, and the State Liquor Commission.

Special Considerations

Home-based Businesses, Street Vendors, and Professionals

Advice

Again, calling Planning & Zoning or the Community & Economic Development Office before you start your project can save the day. Discuss your needs and the process of reaching your goals. Complications are easier to overcome if you can prepare ahead. Untangling a situation after the fact is almost always more difficult and more costly.

Home-Based Businesses

A home occupation zoning permit is required for any business to operate out of an owner's home. (Note: If you rent your home, make sure to check if operating a business is allowed in your lease.)

Permit Process: Visit the Planning & Zoning website at www.ci.burlington.vt.us/planning to get a copy of the Zoning Permit Application Form, a Home Occupation questionnaire and information. There are two levels of Home Occupations, one that simply needs "Administrative Approval" (with non-refundable fee) and the other being "Conditional Use Approval" which is reviewed by the Development Review Board (which has a different non-refundable fee). To determine which one you will need, visit the website and review Section 5.4.6 of the Zoning Ordinance. Alternatively, you can just pick up the phone and discuss your project with P&Z to get a good idea what level you're applying for. If you are modifying your home to accommodate your business, you may also need to obtain a building permit from the Department of Public Works (802) 863.9094.

Street Vendors

Church Street Marketplace

To be a vendor on the Church Street Marketplace, you must apply to the Church Street Marketplace Commission located at 2 Church St., Suite 2A, or call (802) 863.1648. In your application, you will need to attach photographs or drawings of your cart showing all sides and measurements. There is an application fee. Along with the application, you must submit a Vendor Application checklist.

Vendor License fees vary depending on vendor type and location within the Marketplace. Food vendors, remember to sign up for a gross receipts account with the Clerk/Treasurer's Office.

Beyond the Church Street Marketplace

General Peddling District. Includes all locations throughout the City except a designated area of downtown and within the parks. Monthly or yearly fees apply for each license. Vehicle endorsements carry additional fees.

Central Peddling District. Includes a designated area of downtown. Yearly, six-month, or monthly fees apply for each license. Vehicle endorsements are not applicable.

University Place. There are only seven spaces available. Peddlers must sign an agreement. There is a waiting list.

Complete and submit a Peddler License Application to the Clerk's Office. You will be asked for a description of your cart, stand or vehicle and for a proposed location.

Professional Regulation

The Secretary of State's Office licenses the following professions. If your profession is listed below, give them a call (802) 828.2386 or visit <http://vtprofessionals.org>.

Accountancy, Acupuncture, Architecture, Athletic Trainer, Auctioneer, Barber/Cosmetology, Boxing, Chiropractic, Crematory Establishment, Dental, Dietician, Electrolysis, Engineer, Funeral Service, Hearing Aid Dispenser, Land Surveyor, Marriage/Family Therapy, Mental Health Counselor, Licensed Midwife, Motor Vehicle Racing, Naturopath, Nursing, Nursing Home Administrator, Occupational Therapy, Opticians, Optometry, Osteopath, Pharmacy, Physical Therapy, Private Investigative/Security, Psychoanalysis, Psychology, Psychotherapy, Radiologic Technology, Real Estate Appraiser, Real Estate Broker/Salesperson, Respiratory Care Practitioner, Social Worker, Tattooists/Body Piercers, Veterinary.

Consult the State's Professional Regulation website for agencies who regulate the following professions: Attorneys, Drug & Alcohol Counselors, Licensed Educators, Insurance Agents/Brokers, Plumbers, Electricians, Polygraph Examiners, Well Drillers, Physicians, Physicians Assistants, Podiatrists, Speech Pathologist/Audiologist.

Other Things You Need to Know for Peddler Licenses

All peddlers must check with Planning & Zoning (802) 865.7188 to see if they will need a Home Occupations permit.

Food Peddlers are required to put down a refundable deposit.

Selling door-to-door requires a Peddler's license.

Farmers, delivery services, and non-profit solicitors are not required to have a peddling license.
